Resolutions of Respect, Obituaries and

Former Governor James M. Cox will meet Governor Frank B. Willis in a public discussion of their political views on the afternoon of Monday, August 14, at the Miami Valley chautauqua, near Franklin. The debate will take place at 2 o'clock. Governor Willis will open with a talk of thirty minutes. Former Governor Cox will then have forty minutes for his argument. Governor Willis will close in ten minutes. The management of the chautauqua, which is one of the largest in the state, expects an attendance of 25,000 or more on this day.

This will be the first time in the history of the state when a former governor and a governor will meet on the platform in public discussion. The fact that both are candidates, opposing each other for the second time, arouses additional interest. Those who have watched events of the present and immediately preceding administration expect this meeting to be enlightening. It will be virtually a joint campaign opening for the state.

Inasmuch as former Governor Cox has publicly stated that in his estimation the big campaign issue in Ohio this year will be that of common honesty on the part of candidates, and that the campaign in the state would not be "a pink tea" something of the line of argument is forecast. This will be the first time since the campaign of 1914 that Governor Willis will occupy a place before the public to answer for the fraud and deceit of his campaign and explain the shortcomings of his administration. It is not expected that he will rely on the explanation that former Governor Herrick has been making for him, that "he is a boy and will do better next time."

In an effort to keep up the tax duplicate, especially in the population centers where is located most of the intangible property, revision boards have been arbitrarily adding to returns of individuals and business concerns. The sworn statements are ignored, and without hearing those making the returns are declared dishonest, and the additions are made. Notice is thereafter given of such additions. This is contrary to the law which presumes the honesty of men and provides for a public hearing before additions may be made. The arbitrary action has been taken on orders and with the aid of the tax commission, which is said to be fortified by the attorney general's opinion. The tax situation now forms a desperate case and desperate remedies are being applied.

The origin of the plank in the Republican platform that calls for the nationalization of the railroads and the virtual destruction of all the state railroad commissions is no longer in doubt. Minority Leader Mann, in one of his intermittent spells of frankness, said on the floor of the house, July 15, referring to this very plank: "The attorneys for the railroads succeeded in getting a plank in the Republican platform of 1916."

Considering the record of Governor Hughes in vetoing the two-cent passenger rate in New York, we presume that the railroad authorship of this platform plank will rather commend the proposition to him.

In his opening speech of the campaign at Detroit Monday night, Candidate Hughes spoke along the same lines of his telegram to the Chicago convention and of his speech of acceptance. He devoted himself to petty fault-finding, but proclaimed no policy he would follow if elected. He failed to state in what instance he would have done different if he had been president instead of Wilson. Anybody can find fault with anything—that's easy. But fault-finding by a presidential candidate will not answer. The people cannot be fooled that way.

When former Congressman Richard Bartholdt of St. Louis visited the Republican managers in New York and told them that Missouri would elect a Republican senator and that "the German vote in the state would be almost unanimously against President Wilson." It is safe to say he was not transmitting the official opinion of the voters of his old congressional district. They refused to send him to the Chicago convention, although he displayed an unusual desire to be their delegate.

On excuse of "going home to vote" every deputy in every department in Columbus spent from three to five days working for the nomination of Willis and the slate candidates. All of them are civil service appointees, but all of them were told to go home and deliver the goods just as they did at the presidential primary when the "three-to-a-precinct" single shot deal was worked. With the additions to the pay roll in all departments, Willis has a formidable army at work.

When it is considered that Republican leaders in congress constantly have demanded military intervention in Mexico, it is difficult to follow Representative Mondell of Wyoming, who recently declared in the house, "We would not have had on hand the expensive and deplorable Mexican situation, for a Republican administration would not have created the mud that makes heavy expenditures on the border necessary."

The Democrats of Knox county did well in the primaries Tuesday. The unusually large vote polled shows a keen interest in the affairs of the party and the exceedingly good and well-balanced ticket nominated means the starting in on the campaign in an auspicious manner and betokens success at the election three months hence. There is cause for felicitation all around.

It develops that a quarter of a million dollars were expended on the state mobilization camp without authority. Congress will probably make appropriations to pay the bills, but some of those in charge of the Ohio political machine that is running things will have some embarrassing questions to answer.

As was expected, James M. Cox was renominated for governor by practically an unanimous vote. It is a fine expression of the members of his party calling him to leadership and is a vindication of him in many ways. His election is one of the things that is easily predicted and which is generally conceded.

The millions of women who already have the right to vote and the other millions who are struggling to secure that right will not read lightly the declaration of the Democratic platform that, "We recommend the extension of the franchise to the women of the country by states upon the same terms as to men."

The "notes" of President Wilson and his accomplished secretary of state will be accepted by chancelleries of the future as models of diplomatic assertiveness. They have brought to the great American nation prosperity with honor and peace without groveling.

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES

JOIN WITH CITY IN REMOVING SLIDED BRIDGE WEEDS

A resolution was introduced and passed at the regular meeting Tuesday night of the trustees of Clinton township, expressing a desire to cooperate with the city of Mt. Vernon in ridding the creek bank, near Slided bridge and westwards, of the vast quantity of weeds and undergrowth which serves as a harbor for loafers, hoboes and bootleggers.

It is understood that a petition of property owners who are situated near the stretch of weeds, requesting the abatement of the nuisance has been signed by a majority and will be presented to council.

turns indicate that Cox will have a majority of all votes cast for governor.

Atlee Pomerene of Canton was renominated for United States senator over John J. Lentz of Columbus.

The Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor probably is E. J. Hopple, a state senator of Cleveland, who received support from the organization. His opponents were Earl D. Bloom of Bowling Green, D. L. Sutter of Cleveland and George W. Tool of Columbus.

Thornton R. Snyder of Cincinnati, who had organization support, was nominated for secretary of state. Snyder's opponents were Carl F. Antman of Hamilton, William D. Fulton of Newark, Colin C. Meekison of Napoleon, John Henry Newman of Columbus and William A. Weyandt of Wooster.

A. V. Donahue of New Philadelphia, state auditor, had no opposition among Democrats for renomination for state auditor.

For treasurer of state the nomination went to Chester E. Bryan of London, who had no opposition.

Joseph McGehee of Jackson, Democratic nominee two years ago, made a game fight for the nomination for attorney general, but it is thought, was beaten by Scott Stahl of Port Clinton. There was a third candidate, W. J. Schenck of Bucyrus.

For the Democratic nominations for supreme judge, no one opposed the incumbents for renomination, Judges M. H. Donahue of New Lexington and James G. Johnson of Springfield.

The total vote cast throughout the state was light. Over twice as many Republicans as Democrats turned out.

Columbus, Aug. 9.—In the Republican state primaries yesterday Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland defeated Harry M. Daugherty of Columbus, ex-senator Charles Dick of Akron and E. E. Cassell of Richland county for nomination for United States senator. Frank B. Willis of Ada was renominated for governor by the Republicans over Rudolph W. Mack of Cincinnati and George W. Shaw of Cleveland.

Both Herrick and Willis scored notable victories. Herrick may have a majority of all votes cast in the senatorial race. He said he thought he had been nominated 3 to 1.

Reports from cities indicate that Lieutenant Governor John H. Arnold, Republican, may be beaten for renomination by Abram W. Agler, attorney of Canton. Returns from Cincinnati, where Agler was endorsed by the county central committee, showed him leading over Arnold, a dry, about 3 to 1. Stark county, Agler's home county, showed a similar ratio.

The Republican nomination for auditor was hotly contested. Joseph T. Tracy of Portsmouth, at present a deputy in the auditor's office under Donahue, had organized support at Cincinnati, and also to an extent at Cleveland. In the latter city, the party leaders were divided between

MYRON T. HERRICK.

Tracy and Jacob J. Wise of Massillon. Other candidates for auditor were Hayes M. Adams of Sandusky, George C. Braden of Warren, Charles D. Conover of Urbana, Stephen A. Stillwell of Lebanon. Late returns indicate the nomination of Adams.

Rudolph W. Archer of Bellare, Republican, was renominated without opposition for treasurer of state.

Edward C. Turner of Columbus had no opposition and was renominated for attorney general.

James Joyce, Cambridge, former congressman, is leading for the Republican nomination for the supreme court. Either Cyrus Newby, Hillsboro, for twenty-five years a common pleas judge, or Augustus N. Summers, former judge of the supreme court, will be second. The other Republican candidates were J. G. Obermyre, Columbus, former clerk of the supreme court, and Willis Vickery, Cleveland, common pleas judge in Cuyahoga county.
